Chapter VII

14. Temporary injunctions:

Cases in which temporary injunctions may be granted:-

the Ombudsman may by order grant a temporary injunction to stay or prevent or restrain such act, or make such other order, as the Ombudsman thinks fit, until the disposal of Complaint application or until further orders. The Ombudsman may grant such relief at any stage during the disposal of a complaint.

15. Before granting injunction, Ombudsman to give notice:-

the Ombudsman shall except where it appears that the object of granting the injunction would be defeated by the delay, before granting an injunction, direct notice for the same to be given to the opposite party.

Provided that, where it is proposed to grant an injunction without giving notice of the Complaint and any application to the opposite party, the Ombudsman shall record the reasons for its opinion that the object of granting the injunction would be defeated by delay, and require the applicant –

17. Order for injunction may be discharged, varied or set aside:-

any order for an injunction may be discharged, varied or set aside by the Ombudsman, on an application made by any party dissatisfied with such order:

Provided that if in an application for temporary injunction or in any affidavit supporting such application, a party has knowingly made a false or misleading statement in relation to a material particular and the injunction was granted without giving notice to the opposite party, the Ombudsman shall vacate the injunction unless for reasons to be recorded, it considers that it is not necessary so to do in the interests of justice:

Provided further that where an order for injunction has been passed after giving to a party an opportunity of being heard, the order shall not be discharged, varied or set aside on the application of that party except where such discharge, variation or setting aside has been necessitated by the change in the circumstances, or unless the Ombudsman is satisfied that the order has caused undue hardship to that party.

18. Injunction to corporation binding on its officers:-

an injunction directed to a corporation is binding not only on the corporation itself, but also on all members and officers of the corporation whose actions it seeks to restrain.
